

Meyer Turku

Meyer's shipyard area in Turku. Numerous renovations, improvements and new buildings have been planned and added for the area.

The latest technologies have been used in design planning, which enables the management of the area's property in digital form. A building information model (BIM) of the entire building stock has also been prepared for the area.

The scale of the construction projects have been very large and the expertise and cooperation of several different design fields has been used in the design.
